On February 23rd, TLFF I Pte Ltd issued US$ 95,000,000 Secured Fixed Rate Notes (the “Sustainability Bonds”) to finance a sustainable natural rubber plantation in Jambi (Sumatra) and East Kalimantan, Indonesia.

The Project, extending over 3 concessions with a total area of circa 88,000 hectares, aims to create natural habitat protection zones, including the creation of a critical buffer alongside the Bukit Tigapuluh National Park. Out of the circa 88,000 hectares, circa 45,000 hectares will be set aside for community livelihoods, land restoration and conservation corridors for the many iconic species in the adjacent national parks.

The proceeds of the issuance of the Notes were applied towards providing a 15-year loan facility to Royal Lestari Utama (RLU) and its operating subsidiaries. RLU is owned 51% by Satria Cemerlang, an affiliate of a leading Indonesian conglomerate and 49% by Michelin.

At maturity, the plantation is expected to provide approximately 16,000 jobs at minimum wage or better, providing a critical source of employment for local communities.

The rubber plantation will also represent up to 10% of Michelin's global natural rubber supply.

The Project will be developed in phases and is expected to be completed by year 2024 with a total annual natural rubber production of over 55,000 metric tons (cup lumps or re-milled latex). The site is comprised of approximately 34,000 hectares of land in total for rubber plantation and the Borrowers have already planted until December 2017 approximately 18,076 hectares in rubber trees.

Indonesia: world's 3rd largest area of tropical forest
December 2014 – JV began; Execution of a Shareholders’ Agreement between PT Royal Lestari Utama and PT Satria Cemerlang and Compagnie Financière Michelin SCmA

Michelin (A-/A3/A-) was established in 1889; involved in the production of rubber since 1925. As the world leader in tyre production and the largest purchaser of natural rubber, Michelin is committed to ensure sustainable and responsible management of the natural rubber supply chain.

Natural rubber is a critical raw material for the tyre industry as it has great elasticity, good plasticity, high wear out resistance and high heat resistance.

In order to secure a strategic stable supply of high-quality natural rubber, Société des Matières Premières Tropicales Pte. Ltd. (SMPT, the sole natural rubber supplier for the Michelin group worldwide) entered into a Master Commercial Agreement pursuant to which SMPT shall purchase a target volume of the total production of remilled latex (75 per cent.).

Michelin assists RLU with agronomic know-how which helps to achieve the best agricultural management practices for RLU covering operational, environmental and social aspects. RLU has entered into a technical services agreement with SMPT pursuant to which SMPT will provide all the necessary technical support to RLU for the development of the plantation project.

At maturity, the rubber plantation will represent up to 10% of Michelin’s global natural rubber supply.
As one of the largest natural rubber buyers in the world, Michelin has been a leader in promoting sustainable natural rubber.
